PAPER.—The material on which mankind have contrived to write their sentiments in different ages and different countries have been extremely various. The most ancient, perhaps, were stone and plates of metal. Tablets of wood, particularly of cedar wood, were afterwards used, and these were again followed by tablets covered with wax, which were written on according to the fashion of the time, either with iron bodkins, the bones of birds, or reeds cut in the forms of pens.

At length the papyrus of Egypt was invented, which not only gave a great facility to the art of writing, but was a portable material. It was formed of thin coats stripped from the reed which grows upon the banks of the Nile. The date of its discovery and the date of its disuse have been equally disputed. Nor is it yet completely ascertained whether its first application may be ascribed to an earlier or a later date than the conquest of Egypt by the Macedonians.

Parchment was the next invention, originating in a country where no such material as the papyrus could be discovered; and it has been found at once so durable and useful that it is still employed upon important occasions in every European country.

The art of making paper, such as we now see it, was a late discovery; and its first material was cotton. The linen paper, which is now in use, is supposed to have followed the discovery. They are both dated by the generality of writers at the eleventh or twelth century, though the honor of the the discovery is claimed not only by different, but distant nations.

The first book which was printed on paper, manufactured in England, came out without a date, about 1495 or 1886, though, for a long time afterwards it was principally from abroad.

The first paper mill in England was established about 1590 at Dart, in Kent, by one Spilman, who died in 1697.

The Laws of Newspapers.

The Courts have settled the following points:

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to continue their subscriptions.

2. If subscribers order the discontinuance of their papers, the publisher may continue to send them until all that is due be paid.

3. If subscribers refuse or neglect to take their papers from the office to which they are directed, they are held responsible till they have settled their bill and ordered their paper discontinued.

4. If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher, and the paper is sent to the former direction, they are held responsible.

5. Refusing to take a paper from the office, or removing and leaving it uncalled for is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

6. A postmaster neglecting to inform the publishers when a paper is not taken from the office, makes himself liable for the subscription price.

Utah's Regenerator!

Glorious Assays!

One Hundred and twenty.

Six Hundred and Twelve.

Seven Hundred.

Eight Hundred.

Twelve Hundred and Forty-Eight.

Average of FIVE LEDGES.

Six hundred and ninety Dollars to the Ton!

We have received information from the East of five assays made of the auriferous Galena ores of Ruth Valley. The following figures show the yield of each portion:

Orion	$126.00
Boston	612.00
Potomac	700.00
Alemeda	890.00
Ulric	1248.00

Here are five ledges well known in this community, giving an average assay of six hundred and ninety dollars to the ton. Who can conveniently beat the hand we show to labor and capital? We add here that on each of these ledges the foot wall is well defined and as the owners penetrate them they become more compact, widen out, and give every indication known to silver mining experience of proving inexhaustible sources of wealth to those who may be fortunate enough to own them. These assays have been made under the direction of a gentleman well known in this City, and are entirely reliable. Give us capital, and we will prove Utah's Silver Mines to be as rich as any west of the Rocky mountains, and in doing this, will present to the Government Utah's Regeneration.

Test Oaths.

"No rogue e'er felt the halter draw
With good opinion of the law."

The Telegraph man has suddenly discovered that "test oaths" are "anti republican, illegal, unconstitutional and their enforcement nothing more nor less than a dangerous usurpation!" In yesterday's paper he counsels as follows:

"We very much doubt the utility of test oaths in peace or war. A really bad man will not scruple to swear that he is not guilty of things that he is, while a better, a more conscientious, well meaning man, who is guilty yet not materially guilty, will refuse to take such oath, and the State will consequently lose the services of a good but misled or erring citizen."

While wondering in which of the above classes the editor of the Telegraph reckons himself, we are by no means surprised at the evident interest with which he regards the matter. Supposing that Congress should apply the test oath to Utah, and appoint only those to office who could conscientiously make oath that they had been good loyal citizens, and were not living in open violation of any law of Congress, we wonder who would be Postmaster in Salt Lake City. Certainly not the sapient editor in question, nor any of his polygamous crew. We much doubt if the Telegraph man is fully satisfied that any form of oath to abide by and maintain the laws of the land is not an "un-American device," which, "now the war is over," should be speedily repudiated. It is well known that he has openly violated such an oath, and certainly the general Government is to blame for requiring an obligation which religious scruples and after revelations compel a man to falsify! Yes, certainly, "such a republicanism is worse than some of the tyrannies o the old world!"

But seriously, who is injured by what is known as the test oath? Not the loyal people. Not those who have borne the bright banner of stars proudly onward through bloody war to glorious victory and peace. Not those who have stood by the Government, unflinching and undismayed, through all its days of trial and distress. Not those who, sacrificing every selfish personal interest, took their lives in their hands and went forth to offer themselves on the altar of their faith. No! It only interferes with the "rights" of traitors. The disloyal, the only those whose disloyalty is stamped on the records of the past, those who staked the bombastical cry of treason against the calm faith of loyalty; those whose exulting "prophecies" of a general destruction to the country, marked them as national vandals — worse, because more cruel and cowardly than sectional traitors.

Government owes to its loyal subjects the first great duty of their protection. How, we ask, can that be secured but by putting none but loyal citizens in places of influence and trust? Is it too much to require of the men who are appointed to guard the country should be true to our country, loyal to our Government? All will not demand a purer loyalty than that which is only not treason, simply because treason failed?

SENATE.

Washington, Feb. 8.

Clark introduced a bill to amend the Judicial system of the United States. It provides for ten Circuit Judges, as now authorized, and appeal in cases involving fifty dollars, from the District Court, or without regard to the amount in controversy when the question involved is of general importance.

Stewart offered a resolution instructing the Judiciary Committee to inquire what legislation is necessary to protect citizens of the United States in a Territory in their civil rights. Adopted.

After a discussion of Kentucky loyalty, the amendments to the Freedmen's Bureau Bill by the House, except that restricting its operations to the States in which the habeas corpus was suspended were agreed to, and the bill then passed.

HOUSE.

Washington, Feb. 8.

The House has passed an important homestead bill, introduced by Price, of Massachusetts, disposing of public lands to actual settlers, regardless of race or color, in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Kansas and Florida. It gives 80 acres to the actual settler, and embraces 46,000,000 acres, mineral lands excepted.

Washington, Feb. 9.

A message was received in the House from the President transmitting letters from the Secretary of War and the Attorney General, in answer to the resolution of inquiry that it would be incompatible with the public interests to publish the evidence against Jeff. Davis.

The Freedmen's Bureau Bill has finally passed both Houses, the House to-day concurring in the Senate's amendment of yesterday.

The House to day finished naval appropriation bill; all items for Norfolk and Pensacola Navy Yards were stricken out, it being held that the condition of the South does not yet warrant the expenditure of any large sums for improvements, that could be used against the nation. The bill gives Washington Yard one hundred and eighty thousand dollars, Philadelphia Yard one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and Portsmouth Yard two hundred and ninety thousand dollars, being in each case all that was asked for; New York Yard half a million, which is one third of what they wanted; Boston Yard asked for six hundred thousand dollars, and gets two hundred and fifty thousand dollars. Pensacola Yard appropriation includes one hundred thousand dollars for purchase of Seavey's Island, adjoining the Yard, and this, so far as money is concerned, settles the question which has been disturbing Congress so many years.

Washington, Feb. 10.

In the House to-day, Ward, of N. Y., argued that it was the duty of Congress to bring back the Southern States; he said the people of those states were on their good behavior, but a rebel spirit yet prevails. The leaders of the rebellion ought to be hanged, that such offenders in future might be admonished that treason is a crime which ought to be punished.

GENERAL NEWS.

Washington, Feb. 9.

The Pacific Railroad commissioners have adopted the following plan, reported by the engineers. While the law makes the grades and levels adopted on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad as the standard, this can only be considered the limit in the mountain districts, as the introducing of grades of 116 feet per mile, or curves as sharp as 40 feet radius, on other parts of the road, would manifestly violate the special intent. The grades should be settled upon principles of true economy and their adoption based on a careful, scientific and practical investigation, having due regard to the cost of construction and the future working of the road. It is safe to say that on the Platte and Kansas valleys or level plains, no grade should exceed 30 feet per mile. In all parts of the main line or branches the embankments should not be less than 24 feet wide.

The following is a portion of Napoleon's speech to the Corps Legislatif, Jan. 22.: "As I expressed the hope, last year, that our expedition to Mexico was approaching its termination, I am coming to an understanding with Maximilian to fix an epoch for the recall of our troops without compromising French interests, which we have been defending in that remote country. The Emperor said he regretted him to set out without delay for Mexico, with a message to Max, that he considered, he, Napoleon, had fulfilled all his obligations, and that the time had arrived when Max. must depend upon his own resources, without help from the French army. Lalliard asked for credentials, but the Emperor observed that there was no necessity for any documents. All he had to do, was to simply represent to Max. the conversation just had.

Senator Evans, of Colorado, has written a letter to the Union Pacific Railroad Company, now in session in New York, urging the importance of a more thorough survey, to find a feasible passage of the Rocky Mountains in Colorado, between the head of the Arkansas River and Bonder Creek, by which route, over a hundred miles of railroad could be saved in reaching Great Salt Lake City.

A number of Democratic members called on the President to-day, to congratulate him upon his speech to the colored delegation.

Yesterday, the Secretary of the Interior reported that the surveys of public lands in the last ten years in California, had cost $1,314,524, while the receipts from sales in the same time amounted to $520,765.

The negotiations for the renewal of the reciprocity treaty with Canada have utterly failed, and the Canadian delegation have left Washington, disgusted. The Toronto Globe says, one happy result of the course adopted by the United States will be the speedy confederation of the British and American Provinces, the absolute necessity being now apparent. With a Confederacy carried, the improvement of internal communication, throwing open the lands to free settlement, gradual reduction of Custom tariffs, opening of new markets, vigorous prosecution of the fishery and mineral enterprises, commencement of an enlarged system of immigration, wise revision of the system of banking and currency, the people of British America need not doubt that brighter prospects in future are before them.

Advices from the city of Mexico state that the diplomatic body lately waited on Maximilian and the Empress with a message of condolence on the death of King Leopold. Maximilian, in replying, alluded to the kindness everywhere manifest on his tour to and from Yucatan, without an armed escort. He added, as to myself, gentlemen, you have been witnesses of my labors. They cannot heal the gaping wounds produced by fifty years of civil war, but I have the firm confidence in the result and will proceed to my proposed end with indefatigable perseverance. New York, Feb. 10

Gen. Hooker has ordered the following military districts to be discontinued, New Jersey, Rhode Island and Connecticut, district of Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Vermont, district of Maine, and district of Northern and Western New York.

New Orleans, Feb. 9.

Gen. Weitzel arrived from the Rio Grande [illegible] to-morrow for Cincinnati. He expresses the opinion that the country watered by the Rio Grande is not worth going to war about; says it is very difficult to preserve strict neutrality on the Rio Grande, but officers of the army there concur in his opinion as to a war with Mexico. A commission investigating the Bagdad affair had reported that they lay blame on Gen. Crawford and a party of United States soldiers engaged, acting under contrary orders than those sent over at the request of the authorities of the Republic of Mexico, to preserve order.

The Brownsville Courier, of Feb. 3d, announces that Bagdad is reported to have taken and occupied Monterey.

Gen. Negrete arrived at Brownsville, and it was reported he had forsaken Juarez for Ortega.

New York, Feb. 10.

The Panama correspondent of the Herald says, the combined Peruvian and Chilian fleet is under orders to commence immediate hostilities against Spain. Callao is strongly fortified with guns, including eight Blakely's cast steel 300-pounders. The monitor Victoria and ram Loa are also in port. Some of the batteries are officered by Americans. The Panama correspondent says, torpedoes and other infernal machines for the destruction of the Spanish fleet, have arrived at Callao; they were purchased in New York by an agent of the Chilian Government.

New York, Feb. 10.

The Post's Washington special says, rumors are current but not generally credited that the President will soon issue a proclamation declaring peace and restoring Habeas Corpus in all the States.

The Commercial says, extreme dullness continues in monetary affairs; uncertainty about the result of the deliberations of Congress, on the finance bill, apprehension of the unsettled condition during the execution of proposed measures of the Secretary of the Treasury, causes a general disposition to avoid contracts extending into the future. Government securities show a steady appreciation. Gold easier, and market amply supplied; one broker yesterday sold about a million dollars.

Boston, Feb. 10.

The mystery surrounding the robbery of the Concord bank, Sept. 26th, is partially cleared. Two of the robbers were captured a few day since and one hundred and ninety-six thousand dollars recovered; being about two-thirds of the total loss. It is believed three persons were concerned in the robbery, and that the third will be arrested soon. The money recovered has been paid to the officers of the bank.

New York, Feb. 10.

The Herald's Panama correspondent says, it is regretted that Valparaiso has no fortifications or armament to resist an attack, and hoped no orders have been given for the combined fleet of Peru and Chili to attack the Spanish fleet not being strong enough and might come to grief. The Spanish fleet is admirably appointed and pronounced among the most perfect in the world. The third article of treaty between Peru and Chili stipulates that any foreigner in the naval service of either may if competent, be advanced to supreme command of either fleets.

The Tribune's Paris letter says a gold medal for Mrs. Lincoln subscribed in France, will be presented by B. M. Albert, member of the Provisional Government of 1848, who will visit the U. S. for that purpose.

The Commercial's London letter says, no probability of an early reduction of bank rate of interest, and that seven per cents is the utmost relaxation expected.

[COMMUNICATED]

Fenian Brotherhood Lecture.

The members of Sarsfield Circle, F. B. of this City, were favored on last Wednesday evening, at their hall, with an eloquent address from Mr. McGrath, formerly deputy State Center, F. B. of Montana.

Knowing how crowded your columns are, [illegible] from giving you a full account, suffice it to say that the gentleman took for his subject "The wrongs of Ireland." He said that, in order to come to a proper understanding of anything, it is necessary for a person to commence at the beginning; and, in order that we might understand fully the "wrongs of Ireland," it was necessary for him to bring us back to the year 1172, when "British rule" commenced in Ireland, to see the power and institutions of England on the one hand, and the people nobly defending themselves on the other. For one hour he kept the members of this circle spell-bound and was frequently interrupted by loud applause. As he proceeded to give a description of our native country, during the reigns of Queen Elizabeth, James 1st, and Charles 1st, it made every member wish for the day to soon come when they could unite with the balance of their countrymen both at home and in exile, to go forth more terrible than an avalanche, from the mountains and the plains, to sweep forever from off the soil of Ireland that cursed despotism which holds her children in the chains of Slavery.

He paid a high tribute to the noble patriots of 1788 and 1798, and reviewed statistically the rapid decline of the Irish people, the increase of waste lands, and their exodus and extermination from the land of their fathers and their faith.

He predicted a hopeful future in store for Ireland, through the Fenian Brotherhood, and believed the day was not far [illegible] the voices of the sleeping Patriots whose names we were familiar with could call upon their countrymen to strike the blow that would rend in twenty [illegible] A. Bailey, each, on the ice to [illegible] the whole party drowning before help could reach them.

If brooks are, as poets call them the most joyous sparkling things in nature, what are they always murmuring about?

Three things only are essential to happiness—namely: something to do; something to love: and something to hope for.

A woman being enjoined to try the effect of kindness on her husband, and being told that it would help push of fury on his part, replied that she had tried "boiling water, and it didn't do a bit of good."

A young lady recently returned from boarding-school, being asked at table if she would take some more cabbage, replied, "By no means, madam, gastronomical [illegible] strictly admonishes me that I have arrived at the ultimate culinary degitation consistent with the code of Esculapius."

"Drinks" are now called "leg stretchers" in Vermont. It is an every day occurrence for some passengers in the stage coaches, while the latter are waiting at the hotels to say, "I guess I will get out and stretch my legs," which always ends in their having a drink somewhere in the hotel.
